

Why I choose ST

Clear values

In Fackförbundet ST, the fundamental trade union values are important. We actively work for democracy, justice, solidarity and for human rights. We also work internationally to strengthen trade union work in countries where trade union freedoms and human rights are not self-evident.

Important issues

Improving working conditions is our most important goal. This applies to salary and other terms of employment, the right to professional development and influence at work, good leadership and a good working environment. Fackförbundet ST also fights for gender equality, increased diversity and to counter all forms of discrimination.

One workplace – one trade union

Everyone is welcome as a member of Fackförbundet ST, regardless of your profession, position and duties at work. This way of organizing provides strength, a sense of community and unity.

Holistic approach to work

Good working conditions require both individual development and development of the working place. Fackförbundet ST works to ensure that our members has greater influence over their own work and can influence what happens in the workplace.

Our members are in control

The needs and wishes of the members guide the trade union work. The union work is shaped and run by the members together. Everyone is encouraged to participate and influence which issues that should be prioritised. In the workplace – where the opportunities to influence are greatest – there are workplace representatives, which the members themselves have chosen.

Cooperation creates strength

For us, cooperation is important – both within one's own organization and with others. It gives strength in negotiations, advocacy and international work.

Competence and experience

Fackförbundet ST knows what it's like to work on behalf of the state and for the citizens. We have extensive experience and expertise on the issues that are important for the member and the public sector. This allows us to influence the employer and enforce changes and improvements.

Party political independence

Fackförbundet ST is not affiliated with any political party. When we takes a stand in political issues, it is from the perspective and interests of our members.
